A conflored as returned from the National Grand Army encampment at California, says, when asked regarding the trip: "We went in the wrong season that is certain. The beauties of the plains are ad a numbing for as we saw them they were one wast desert. The climate was awail. Only one day was pleasant enough to go without an osciosation of control of the control of

So far as the chinere is concerned it was the wrong time to in a Colifornia, and the wrong time to see the beautiful scenery of thegon, as the smaller form the forest fires totally observed the next firm the mountains; but Conformia and Oregan have more fine weather throughout the year than New England and have no season that compares in severity and sickliness with the New England winter from February to the middle of April. But the criticism of climate is a small matter; the serious objection of this tout fic coast is that while it is inhabited by a most generous and hospitable people it has no m radity. Morality was invisited to this tourist after he passed theremae, from which point he lost sight of Sunday.

gregational; It has had an Iron clad prohibitory bruor law on its statute books since 1833; it was a whig state before the foundation of the re-publican part; it has always been good for a republican majority of from 20,000 to 30,000; it a model Puritan commonwealth, inhabited by Yankee farmers, who vote the republican ticket; attend the Congregational church and theoretically sustain the prohibitory flayor law. The political, social and moral philosophy of Vermont is entirely orthodox. New let us look at its practice. It is really the imping, last man in the procession of the New England states. According to the census of 1880, Vermont bare-ity maintained in numbers its population of Its school erstem is notoriously inefficient, a system that makes poor, mean, starved schools not only easily nossible but plenty. Year after year a few patriotic men plead for the Lown system, but plead to deaf ears. The last showed that there were in Vermont 99,463 children between the ages of 5 and 20 response to the tension of the ages of 5 and 20 years, while the whole number of children enrolled in public schools last year was 71,507, or 72 per cent, and the average daily attendance of those carrolled was 95,025, or 65 per cent. In West Virginia there are 228,155 children of the school age, of whom the last report showed 155,572 enrolled or 75 per cent and 155,572 enrolled or 75 per cent and 155.

members and a lower house of 210 members. Of its superior morally, its wisdom and virtue we are content to quote the testimony of its own newspapers. The Rutland (VL) Herald, the ling republican daily of that state, in a recent leans satcastically says of the prohibitory employed an able writer to ascertain how many s of a abetherne, "said one, "That's discouraging," sold the other; "wonder if there's a drag store in the place?" "Don't know, but there is a concern," was the reply, "That's estimate there's areas store, and we'll get our drinks."

The Montpelier Argys (dem.) says:

A New York Tribune correspondent mountly interviewed Col. B. B. Smadey, conjector of contains at Earth and Production of Productions at Earth and Production customs at Barlington, and secretary of the democratic actional evanuities, on the subject of probibilion. Mr. Smalley said:

the law is I world to the small lawyers or the state, freeness as prospecting from signal and town grand juries they pick an a very practy penny during their beam of office. No matter whether the presention falls or succeeds, the the state pays the bill, and by these cornerous prosecutions of pauper comsellers, if a convi tion was obtained, the runseller went to the workhouse; his wife and children went to the poorbouse: the state and town were saddled with a large expense without any sonable diminution in the consumption of alcohol. In one year the governor called attention to the fact that he had granted is pardons to such prisoners, sentenced to the payment of a fine and costs, and to stand committed until paid. The lines and costs remitted amounted to $5000. The governor was a total abstinence man, a probabilionist, but he defended his clemency promonunest, and he defended als commonly on the ground that under the law the imposition of a fine upon a pauper runnseiler practically amounted to imprisonment for life. Once a woman, convicted of a number of cloudous of the fiquor law, was sentenced to the workhouse for thirtysoven years as the equivalent of her unpaid fines. A poor devil gets drunk; the fee to the officer makes his arrest certain; it costs the state the expenses of arrest and prosecution; it costs the state the support of this man in the en-forced idleness of the jail for six months or a year; the family of the prisoner goes to the almshouse for the same length of time, and there is no remedy for this gross exaggeration of state taxes and inhumantly but the clemency of the governor. The liquor law has two or three crutches under each arm, is every two years rubbed and bathed and swathed and bandaged in a new spot, only to repulse good friends of temperance by the in capacity of its doctors to do anything but cry for more crutches when the cripple has already

A few try to make a spoon and the large towns try to make a spoon and the large towns try to make a spoon and the large towns try to make a spoon without difficulty. Every man, who is sensible of a social seri, large or small, wants to smash it with a special statute, while he is so dull that he cannot see that an abuse of a great principle of popular rights by a tailroad in one county in jures the whole state, if left unrighted and un-rebuked, and while the state wastes its energies in paternal legislation it is ming bankwirda because the people, as one of their hading men asps, "cannot seal themselves, in competition with other states, of their sources of prosperity. Their mountains contain the best of marble granite, toofing state, and other materials which are in demand outside, but which are shut in by rates and conditions on transportation." The reason of this is that the adiway corporations own the legicaltons. The Raidand E , iii(Rep.) furnishes this proof that Vermont regis-lators can be bribed:

intern can be brithed:
It is a matter of record that money has been paid
in and about the legislature of Vermont reportally to source the Industries of certain attorneys and politicians who were members. A list of nume appeared upon one voucher that was rendered by appeared upon one voucher that was render d by the foldy apient, and $20 was the prevailing green. These note when called upon by a committee of in-vestigation to explain had to admit the fact, frough of course, they dended the corruption. But $50 secured them for whatever object was somet;

The N. Y. Tribine's correspondent quotes J. R. Atkinson, a wealthy Vermont farmer as fol-lows, in explanation of the fact that improved farm land that once brought $70 an acre can now be bought for from $15 to $30 per agre:

now be bought for from $15 to $30 per acre:

"The young fellows won't work and the old men can't. Those who will work have gone off to the West. Those who remain care more about fast horses and other fast things than about farming, how about at any of the railroad stations and you will see scores of subtles standing around. When a farmer or a farmer's boy gots a fast horse the farm goes to the dogs pretty quick. You can't hire farm help even at big ridees. Most have got above it, want to live by their wits or on what their fathers accumulated. When David Hill too't the famous old Black Hawk stallion into addison county, he caused a has in the value of farm property there equal to a million dolfars. He found flack Hawk in a dray at Lowell, Mass. It would have been better for the state of Vermont it he had never found him. Why, it literally demonstrated the farmors all over the state."

There are but 50,000 members of

There are but 50,000 members of Protestant churches out of the whole population of $50,000 in Vermont. Sunday is as ipopulation of $50,000 in Vermont. Sunday is as much respected in rural Oregon as it is in New England; it is as much a holiday in Lowell, Mass., as it is in Portland. The record of Vermont for peculiarly atrocious crimes during the host ten jesus exceeds that of Oregon; and yet this representative of a decayed, dying, non-progressive state, so penurious that it refuses good government on the pica that it is more economical to endure present evils than impose taxes for reform, this century founds is glad to return from the Pacific cost, where he says "There is no morality and no Sunday," to his own state. no morality and no Sunday," to his own state. where there is no re-serve, if not more open immorality, and no more respect for Sunday laws. Verily New England seems to be drifting into the condition of a duly shiftless man of good family, who does little or nothing himself worthy of his high lineage, but nower tails to claim large consideration everywhere because of his excellent pedigree. Vermont can't bank forever on the face of its great-grandfathors, when other states lead it and it limps poinfully behind. We core read in a Western paper that win Naw, Homest he and Vermont was a limp. "in New Hampshire and Vermont, where hey go to bed with the sun, urink cold water and never miss a pracer meeting, insanifyand bilocy increase 27 per cent, faster than in the West." The western paper was wrong about the cause. Vermont has plenty of persons who turn night into day: who never go to prayer meeting; who drink numerally and often; but of the insmity and ideas of interests that are handsomely cured for on the Pacific slope, she has onough and to spare. The large towns of Vermont are always of Vermont are always of the spare. towns of Vermont are as lowd and drugken as any on the Pacific slope, and rural Oregon is as decent as any part of New England.

Speaking of the probability that upon completion of the road over the Cascade mountains a good deal of wheat will be carried to Paget sound for shipment, the Tacoma News inquires: "How much benefit will Tacoma derive from this business?" It says: "If Portland or foreign buyers transact the lusiness there will be left in Tacoma the cost of handling, and the profits will go elsewhere." It will not take Tacoma any great while to learn what Portland long ago learned, namely, that the "profits" of buying and shipping wheat ago a very uncorbuying and shipping wheat age a very uncertain quantity, and that in fact the profits are as collen mines as plus. Tacoma, after a little ex-perience, will be glad to loave to "Portland or foreign buyers" the privilege of getting their fingers burnt in this business. The fact is, Ta-coma has been building most extravagunt and absord expectations on the "profits" to be made by chipping wheat, and it has been feeding litself with the hope that as soon as the North-ern's Cascade division was completed it would step right into an immense and falmiquely rich business. But in fact, as THE OREGONIAN has pointed out repeatedly during many years, the business of growing wheat and shipping it from this part of the world is never going to make a rich country nor build up an important commercial city. It has been of small value to Portland, except in the matter of furnishing irregular and uncertain empoyment to a builted number of men about the whateves; and this doubtful colourings is all 1; will be to Tacoma. Blaine's Spec.

Alt. Blaine ought to know that it was not Procch, but Dismeit, who, in his great assault on Sir Robert Peel in parliament in 1845, said: "The right honorable gentleman caught the whigs in bathing and he walked away with their clothest he has tamed the shrow of liberatism by her own tactics; he is the political Petruchio who has outbid you all." Dismeil once used the simile of an earthmark in filtraonce used the simile of an earthquake to illustrate the breakdown of the liberal party in 1988, as follows: "I can only liken it to one of those earthquakes which take place in Calabria or Peru. There was a rombling murmur, a groan, a shrick, a sound of distant thunder There was a rent, a fissure in the ground, and then a village disappeared; then a tall tower toppied down, and the whole of the opposition benches became one great dissolving view of

BUSINESS REVIVAL IN THE WILLAM-ETTE VALLEY,

In the Willamette valley there are many signs of improving business. Trade is "looking up" everywhere, not with a sudden and violent advance, but in a general and steady way which promises a permanent improvement in the business status of the country. It is a remarkable fact that in the Willamette valley, the very garden spot of the country and the section longest sattled and best provided with transportation facilities. facilities, etc., business has been slower than in aug other part of the state. There are many curious illustrations of this fact. For example, a given population in Eastern Oragon buys nearly double the quantity of general merchandise bought by an equal population in the Williamete valley counties. The sale of newspapers published in Portland has been very much greater in proportion to popula-tion in the eastern country than in the yalley. Much of this difference is due to local circumstances, but a very considerable share grows out of a difference in repirit and temperament between the two populations. The people of Eastern Oregon are eager and energetic and go about their business with an activity wholly foreign to the customs and practices of the valley. It to the difference is a second or the valley. t is the difference between a new country and a bigh, dry climate, and an old country with a moist, dense air. People who have live t in both sections have felt in themselves the vica-tions of energy which mark clearly the distinction between the people of Eastern Oregon and those of Western Oregon. It is unquestionably a matter of climate, since animals us well as men are affected by it. Forty miles is a good day's ride west of the mountains, while in the higher eastern country a rider gallops off rifty, sixty, or even seventy miles without distress either to blusself or his benst.

But there have been other reasons for depression of business in the valley for some years past. Markets have been bad. Crops, though never falling, have not always been up to standard. The country has been involved sadiv in old debts, now nearly paid off. There has been no organized industry, and no mines, as in Exetern Oregon, to yield ready money. And with all these adverse conditions there has existed an onfortunate organization of business, an utter lack of that apirit of competition which gives life to trade and stimulates communi-ties to enterprise, But the conditions are improving in every way. The Oregon Pacific milroad has been an important factor in waking up the country. It has rensed the long slubeing spirit of competition, and more by Ahnt It promises than what it actually performs, as yet, has given the country new life and hope, Quite incidentally, it has opened the syes of the people to the undereloped resources of their country. They see that with the assistance of railroads running in and out and making the distant places available, that their productions and population can be increased immessurably and with great profit, and this discovery gives new value to kind and new spirit to the people. There is a general feeling that an era of progress has set in and this feeling, with exceptionally good crops, is back of the enterprise which is spinning the Williamette civer at Salem with a fine bridge and building new houses and remitting old ones in servicement (its salem the salem).

pairing old ones in every town in the calley.

There is to be, as an engrowth of the revival of besiness, a contest between Salemand Alixuy for supermacy. Each aspires to be the central and lending town of the valley, and they shart in the race on nearly even terms. Salem has the state craftle and Alixup has the State Capital and Allzing has the connection bestate capital and Albany has the connection between the Oregon & California and the Oregon Pacific rallroads. The general advantages, if there be any difference, are rather the more favorable to Albany, but Salem is going about her own interests in a way which Albany must wake up to match. The contest will do good to both towns, and no matter which guins the advantage in the end, each is certain of a reward for its enterprise au l of a rmanent prosperity and importance.

The county boards of agriculture in New Jer-T are adopting resolutions to the effect that the interests of the state will be best subserved by sending men to the United States senate who are neither the officials, attorneys nor tools of great corporations." This action is directed against Wm. J. Sewell, whose term in the sen-ate will expire in March next and who is a candidate for re-election. Sewell is a "tool" of the Pennsylvania railroad company. He is a republican and his candidature, together with the activity of the prohibitionists, will probably give the senatorship to the democrats. Formerly the soft sand of the straits of cairo gave back no sound of chariot wheel, boot or footstep; now the pared roadway of the Muskl is a dit worthy of Regent street or Broadway. It has lost in dignity and quiet, but much gain is made, in some respects, by the improvements of Ismail Pasha.

Instead of donkeying to the pyramide, or perching on a back-broaking camet, you ride in an open barouche to the very foot of the great pyramid. It is a delictous drive, eleven miles on a raised causeway, under the shady acacia trees, sacred in our eyes to pnetry and song. The highway was built for the Prince of Wales, according to an immemorial compliment in the Rast, which orders a new road made for a guest the king delights to honor. Verily, Ismail Pasha built better than he knew when he ordered this for the Prince of Wales. His it is now.

gut of Sunday. Perhaps it would not be unfair to answer this tourist by glancing at the pleture of his own state for a noment. Verment is a Simor pure, straight American state with a small foreign population and few lurge towns; its chief business is agriculture and its chief church is the Congranticulture.

163,212 enrolled, or 73 per cent, and the average daily attendance 162,612, or 61 per cent. That is, West Virginia, a clice from an old clave state trade that state, makes nearly as good a showing as Ver-mont. The school year in Vermont is 130 days, against the school year in Vermont as 15 days, against the in West Virginia, but West Virginia proposes by law to fix the minimum term at ax months, while in Vermont the session 11 many districts in limited to twenty weeks.

Again, the Vermont spaces of representation is not republican in form or spirit. The 3000 vectors of the latest and the session of the specific spaces of the session of th republican in form or spirit. The 3000 refers of futhated have no more voice and vote-in a matter of legislation which may most deeply cohern them than a petty mountain town of thirty voters. Now York, with nert 5,00,000 of people, has a senate of thirty binuburs and a larger bases. lower house of 126 members, while Vermont, with but 350,000 people, has a scrate of thirty members and a lower house of 240 members.

Where it can be enforced it little needs to be,

The Montpeller Argys (dem.) says:

An "addition, disism and silence" combination is formed by a justice, grand juror and sherift, and the trie systematically work the liquor sellers for whatever can be made out of them. There is usually a perfect understanding all around, and if the dealers do not pay their weakly or monthly dues promptly they are regularly assessed.

A few years ago the North American Regime employed an able writer to assertain how many Tederal Econese for the sale of Equor were sold in New England, and when he made his report, lo, Vermont's record ted all the rest. This singular and surprising fact is explained by the following littlestery told by the Chicago Telbune: In the train bound for a small suburban village he question of drinks was broached. "The town work some wans wans wheat is any to san Francisco presumably to be handled by option sellers.

The I ondon Economy to the intest date received by mail contains revised at mates of the British and French wheat crop of the present year. These est mates place the crop of Great Britain at 17 500 000 bushels against 50 000 000 lasty-ser showing a deficit of 25 00,000 to be supplied by an extra importation. The dedictency in France is even greater the present year's harvest being placed at 284 500 000 bushels as against 33 000 000 bushels in 186 a decrease of 9 200 000 bushels. There is also a shrinkage of 20 000 bushels. There is also a shrinkage of 20 000 bushels in the rye crop of the latter country. Hence it will be seen that those two Lations will require 1700,000 bushels more foreign wheat or its en iwalent in flour directing the import year enting with August 41 its? than they required for the import year just closed.
